

FALMOUTH CONSERVATION COMMISSION
RESOLUTION ON CLAPBOARD ISLAND
December 2, 2013

“The Friends of Clapboard Island have completed a Critical Environmental Issues Analysis and noted that Clapboard Island has significant conservation value due to its habitat, wildlife, and undisturbed natural succession forest. Proximity to Town Landing, the presence of a sheltered beach on the western shore, and a well-maintained trail system make it attractive to town residents. Therefore, the Conservation Commission recommends that the town further explore protecting the island for conservation, education, and recreation.”
