MORRILL, MATTHEW J NORTH HAMPTON, NH 03862

Responded to the above location regarding someone coming into the barn and feeding the Donkey. The reporting party advised that he suspects that someone is coming into the barn and feeding the donkey at late hours of the night. Morrill stated that the Donkey is well cared for and doesn't need the extra food, which is causing the Donkey to be overweight. Morrill stated that he would check with the owner of the property and Donkey as to if the individual was caught, if the individual(s) would be prosecuted. Morrill stated he would talk with the owner of the property about posting no trespass signs, possible placing a camera in the barn or allowing Morrill to stay at the property to catch the individual(s) in the act. I advised Morrill that I could not tell him what to do, but getting himself involved was not the best option. Morrill stated he would get back to me.

It was determined that the trespasser is animal and not human. Mr. Morrill had put down a mix of flour and cayenne pepper to see if he could get any tracks near the grain barrel. It was determined from the tracks that the offender is a large raccoon.

Jabree advised that it was a mistake and the $222.22 dollars was refunded to Santoro eBay account. Santoro stated that he hasn't been refunded the money yet but he was looking into suing Jabree for the vehicle. I advised both subjects that this incident was a civil matter and advised Santoro that he should call York PD since he resides in York to get court information. I also advised not to come to north Hampton to retrieve the vehicle without a bill of sale or a title signed by the owner to him, I advised him of this after Santoro stated that he was coming to get the vehicle.

EMERY called and stated she thinks that Officer Adams is "prank" calling her or thinks that he is having Officer Adams have her ex-husband call her. She has contacted Portsmouth Police three times this morning. She mentioned nothing that was of value. She continued to speak for over 1 half hour. The conversation went nowhere. I advised her that I spoke with Portsmouth Police and they would charge her if she continued to call for no reason. She stated this was not explained to her. At this time she would like to speak with Officer Janvrin.

I responded to the address and found that the horses did not have access to the barn, nor did I see any food. I attempted to contact a care taker and was unsuccessful. Stoddard advised that there was someone coming to check on the horses at 1530 hours. Stoddard informed me that the horses were ok in the elements and were actually getting exercise compared to being in the stable.
