I checked the logs and no deer had been struck in that area. I responded and confirmed a large bloodstain in the middle of the road in the W/B lane. No fur or debris observed, and no drag marks from the blood. I theorized that someone had struck a deer last night and did not report it, and either they or someone close in time took the deer.

We received information from Woodstock NH Police Department advising a male subject in their town had just reported a "text to land line message" from his home stating "I think I'm going to kill myself this weekend." The male party stated the voice on the message was computer generated. When tracking the telephone number it was traced back to a business in our town. This business being Lamprey Brothers Oil. When checking the business all was clear. There was information that a "Darryl" could be the one who wanted to hurt himself. We located a "DARRYL" at home who works for Lamprey and all was fine.
