Re: Illegal Apartment Hotline

Dear Councilors:

Over the years, there have been many deaths as a result of illegal attic and basement apartments.

This department as well as many other city departments has been working together in a proactive manner in order to prevent such tragedies.

These tips are usually referred to us by the board of health, housing authority, assessor's office, fire department, police department, parents, grandparents and "anonymous" concerned citizens.

Usually, an on-site inspection is conducted within 24 hours and the necessary steps are taken by appropriate departments to protect our citizens.

Therefore, the present "Taunton Anonymous Tip Line" as well as inter-department referrals and "anonymous complaints" from concerned citizens seem to be working well at this time.

If this department can be of further assistance, please feel free to contact us at 508-821-1015.

Respectfully yours,

HOW TO

Pick a carbon monoxide alarm

Carbon monoxide is an invisible gas that builds up in your house and can cause dizziness, nausea and even death.

For maximum protection, the Home Safety Council recommends installing carbon monoxide alarms on every level of the home and near each sleeping area. You have several options:

- Plug-in alarms that use electricity from any standard electrical outlet and have battery back-up.

- Battery powered devices that provide basic protection and require two AA batteries.

- Combo smoke/carbon monoxide alarm, which helps protect you from two dangers in the home.

- Multi-gas alarms, which provide protection from carbon monoxide as well as natural gas, propane and methane.

Baby, toddler among 3 dead in house blaze

QUINCY (AP) — A fire raced through an illegal basement apartment Wednesday morning, killing a man, a toddler and a baby and critically injuring a woman, officials said.

More than a dozen other people who lived in the six-family building escaped the 3 a.m. fire. The fire was contained to the basement apartment, but there was extensive smoke damage to the other units, said Acting Fire Chief Joseph Barron.

The apartment where the fire started was illegal, according to a Quincy official and state Fire Marshal Stephen Coan. They said the building was permitted to have four apartments, but that two other apartments had been created in the attic and basement.

Coan said the basement apartment lacked a working smoke detector, and a circuit breaker that controlled hard-wired smoke detectors in hallways and stairwells had been switched off.

Authorities did not immediately release the names or relationships among the three people killed — a man, a 2-month-old and a 1-year-old. A woman who was also in the apartment was in critical condition at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston with serious burns, said Jennifer Meith, a spokeswoman for the state fire marshal.

The fire started in a sofa in the living room of the apartment, but an exact cause has not been determined, Coan said. The blaze was not considered suspicious.

Mostafa Oubirou, who lives in the building, told the Patriot Ledger of Quincy his wife awoke to the smell of smoke. He got his wife and two children out and then pounded on the door to the basement apartment, but no one responded.

Mark Pierce, escaped with his wife and dog. Firefighters rescued the couple two cats.

"We definitely feel grateful in light of the fatalities," he said. "It's a horrible thing, especially those infants."

MEMORANDUM

TO: Taunton City Council

FROM: Peter J. Berry, City Solicitor
Rodney G. Hoffman

DATE: May 19, 2011

SUBJECT: RFQP for Solid Waste Management Facility;
Interstate Waste Technologies (IWT)

The City issued an RFQP for Solid Waste Management Facility dated June 2008 and, after review, identified IWT as the preferred proposer. No contract has been entered into between the City and IWT. First, the City was in negotiations with IWT in connection with a waste-to-ethanol facility in 2010 but no contract was signed. Subsequently, IWT has suggested a fuel cell project and, most recently, a waste-to-gasoline project.

You have asked us to advise you whether, given this background, it would be necessary for the City to issue a new RFQP before entering into contract negotiations with IWT for a waste-to-gasoline project.

In short, our conclusion is that it is not necessary for the City to issue a new RFQP to proceed with negotiations on a waste-to-gasoline project with IWT. However, we note that the City would be acting within its discretion to terminate the original RFQP and to initiate a new procurement if it deemed it in its best interests.

Our conclusion is based on the fact that, first, the scope of the project as described in the RFQP is quite broad. The project is described as one "...to recycle and convert into marketable products municipal solid waste..." and indicates that "...[t]he City is open to many different recycling and conversion technologies." A waste-to-gasoline project would fit within the stated scope just as well as would the initial waste-to-ethanol project. Accordingly, given that no contract has been finalized with IWT, the change to a project involving a waste-to-gasoline process does not constitute a material change in the scope of the RFQP which would require that a new RFQP be issued by the City.

Second, although the original RFQP was issued in 2008, we conclude that the procurement is not 'stale' such that it must be re-procured before entering into a new round of negotiations. Unlike other procurements which anticipate that the contract will be entered into a performed in short order, this RFQP anticipated that entering into a final contact was subject to the proposer obtaining financing for the project which would involve state-of-the-art technology. Between that and the state of the national economy in the interim, it is not unexpected that the contract was not finalized quickly. Given that IWT and the City have continued to pursue the project throughout, the original procurement should be sufficient.
