REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD.

In making this annual report of the schools for the year just closed it is gratifying to be able to state that in general the schools have been in the care of successful teachers, and each is entitled to the approbation which has been accorded to her. The individual reports will more accurately give the status of each. Nothing approximating a failure has occurred in any of the schools, and it is conceded to have been a year of satisfactory progress.

The increased visits by parents and friends indicate an increased interest in the welfare of the children and the prosperity of the schools. This is encouraging, and it is hoped they will be multiplied in the future.

No. 1 division, Centre, has had twenty-three weeks of school; No. 2, Mountain, one term of twelve weeks; No. 3, Ball's, twenty-two weeks; No. 5, East Washington, twenty-three weeks; No. 6, Turnpike, twenty-one weeks; No. 7, Russell's Mill, twenty-three weeks; No. 8, New Boston, one term, nine weeks; No. 9, Cherry Valley, nineteen weeks. The Centre received two weeks out of the income of the Penniman fund. Where only one was taught, the scholars had the privilege of going elsewhere.

The old school-house in No. 3 has been moved to the corner of the roads south of Worcester Ball's and thoroughly repaired except painting which will probably be done this spring. The East Washington school-house needs a coat of paint, and the one on the Turnpike will soon need shingling and painting.

Can the income of the Penniman fund in No. 4, or any part of it, be legitimately used in repairing the school-house in that division?

It is contemplated to make a change of text-books in Reading and Arithmetic, for which the expense will come upon the town in accordance with the law for providing free text-books. Books in other branches may be used as heretofore for the present, the School Board supplying all deficiencies at the expense of the town.

JESSE F. BAILEY,
SUMNER N. BALL,
GEORGE W. GAGE,

School Board of Washington.

DIVISION NO. 1.—Centre.

The summer term of this school was taught by Miss Jennie L. Parker of Lempster. Miss Parker had previously taught the Academy with good satisfaction, and was very highly recommended to the committee who early engaged her for the public school. Without discovering any fault in the teacher, we are sorry to say there was considerable dissatisfaction manifested, as usual, and it would have been a marvel had it been otherwise.

The fall term was taught by Miss Ida M. Davis of Sherborn, Mass., who came here an entire stranger, but very flatteringly recommended by her teachers where she had lately graduated. What she lacked in experience was more than made up in the adaptability she possessed for the work of teaching. She was persistent in maintaining good order which she succeeded in doing to an unusual degree in this school. Considerable trouble existed outside for a time, but the teacher moved steadily onward and the false rumors afloat soon found a burying place in the bosoms of a few malcontents.

The examination was excellent. The school room was beautifully and appropriately decorated with wreaths and mottoes. The address of welcome to the committee by one of the LITTLE scholars was a novelty and highly appreciated. All in all the school was in better condition than the committee has seen it for many years; and Miss Davis left feeling conscious of having done her duty faithfully and that her labors were being more and more appreciated.

J. F. B.

DIVISION NO. 2.—Mountain.

A term of twelve weeks was taught by Miss Ada C. Blanchard, of Washington. This is one of the smallest schools in town, the whole number of scholars attending being but three. Miss Blanchard is a conscientious and painstaking teacher, well qualified for the work of instruction, and the little school made excellent progress.

G. N. G.

DIVISION NO. 3.—Ball's Corner.

The school house was removed to the present site early in the spring, and two terms of school were taught by Miss Flora C. Farley of Marlow, who fully sustained her former reputation as a teacher, having taught in town the previous year. There was only a small number of scholars the past year to attend this school, but there are several who will be old enough to come in soon, and the school-house is now located where it will accommodate a large territory. Those who attended the school during the year made good progress in their studies.

S. N. B.

DIVISION NO. 5.—East Washington.

The Spring term of nine weeks was taught by Miss Agnes L. Barney of Washington. This was Miss Barney's seventh consecutive term in this school, and, as usual, was very successful. Her reputation as a most excellent teacher is so well established in this town that words of praise are uncalled for.

The fall term of fourteen weeks was taught by Miss Jennie M. Carr, of Washington. Miss Carr, like her predecessor, is a teacher of much ability and long experience, having previously taught several terms in this district. Under her care the school made excellent progress. There is a lack of punctuality on the part of scholars in this school which should be corrected.

G. N. G.

DIVISION NO. 6.—Turnpike.

Unexpectedly we were hapily disappointed in again being able to secure the services of Miss Luella E. Farnsworth for another school year. This makes four successive terms she has taught in this school with much satisfaction. Miss Farnsworth is one not content, simply, in being called a "school-ma'am," but is reaching forward after better qualifications, in the art and methods of teaching. School first rate; order excellent; progress satisfactory.

DIVISION NO 7.—Russell's Mill.

Two terms of school were taught here by Miss Clara F. Shepardson, of Marlow, who proved a very efficient teacher. She secured the good will of parents and scholars at the commencement and retained it to the close of the school. It was the purpose of the teacher that the scholars should have one lesson thorough before they passed to another. The parents were more than usually interested in the school, and all with one or two exceptions were present at the closing examinations, while the register shows a large number of visits from parents and friends during the year. S. N. B.

DIVISION NO. 8—New Boston.

One term of nine weeks was taught by Miss Jennie S. Hill of Washington. She won the good will of all the pupils; gave them good instruction; and the school was a decided success. G. N. G.

DIVISION NO. 9.—Cherry Valley.

The school in this division was held at the residence of Geo. C. Crain, as the committee decided this place would best accommodate those wishing to attend, and two terms were taught here by Miss Gertie M. Friend of Washington, which was her first attempt at teaching. The teacher did exceedingly well, and the scholars are far in advance of most scholars of their age, showing that the small schools are where the greatest result may be obtained; as the FEW scholars who receive the same time and attention from a teacher that a LARGE number do must necessarily have much the best opportunity. S. N. B.
